| CHAPTER TITLEGENERAL | RESOURCES | | | |
| SUBJECTPERFORMANCE IMPROVEMENT PLAN | CROSS REFERENCE | | | |

I. Purpose:

The purpose of this policy is to establish the guidelines for a Performance Improvement Plan (PIP).

II. Policy:

A PIP is a structured plan issued by a commander or supervisor to an employee who is not meeting specific performance standards. A PIP shall provide an employee with instructions and guidance to improve his or her performance. A PIP may also be self-initiated by an employee when he or she seeks to improve performance in a specific area.

III. Procedure:

A. Commander or Supervisor Generated PIP:

1. Performance deficiencies shall be brought to the employee's attention as soon as possible.

2. A commander or supervisor is encouraged to initially address an employee's deficiency(ies) on a Performance Memo (PM) or an Individual Development Plan (IDP).

3. A commander or supervisor may initiate a PIP for grounds that include, but are not limited to:

a. The employee's performance deficiency(ies) listed on the PM or the IDP do not improve.

b. There is a necessity to immediately initiate a PIP.

4. The commander or supervisor shall complete the PIP with the following information:

    a. A specific explanation of the performance that fails to meet standards.

    b. Changes and/or improvements the employee must accomplish to meet standards.

    c. Any remedial training, if needed, the employee shall complete.

    d. The time frame of the PIP.

    e. The signatures of the employee and his or her chain-of-command. The PIP shall not be implemented until approved by the Chief Deputy and Sheriff.

5. The proposed PIP shall be forwarded up the chain-of-command for review and comment. A commander, the Chief Deputy, and the Sheriff may make any necessary changes to the plan to ensure the plan is complete, fair and appropriate. The PIP must also coincide with this SOP and the applicable Collective Bargaining Contract.

6. While the plan is in effect, the commander or supervisor shall meet with the employee twice per month and document any progress, or lack thereof, on a PM after every meeting. The employee shall have the opportunity to ask questions to ensure they are completely aware of the areas needing improvement and how to achieve this improvement.

7. An extension of the PIP shall be documented and approved by the Chief Deputy and Sheriff.

8. If an employee is placed on a PIP and transfers to another division, the PIP shall be continued by the new commander or supervisor, if appropriate. A copy of the PIP shall remain in the employee's performance file until successful completion.

9. Failure to meet performance standards may result in an extension of the PIP or disciplinary action (up to termination).

B. Employee Generated PIP:

1. A commander or supervisor is encouraged to initially address an employee's deficiency(ies) via a PM or an IDP.

2. A PIP may be self-initiated by an employee when he or she seeks to improve performance in a specific area.

3. The commander or supervisor, in conjunction with the employee, shall complete the PIP form with the following information:

    a. A specific explanation of the performance that may be deficient.

    b. Suggestions and guidance from the commander or supervisor for improvements.

    c. Any training, if needed, the employee shall complete.

    d. The time frame of the PIP.

    e. The signatures of the employee and his or her chain-of-command. The PIP shall not be implemented until approved by the Chief Deputy and Sheriff.

4. While the plan is in effect, the commander or supervisor shall meet with the employee twice per month and document any progress, or lack thereof, on a PM after every meeting. The employee shall have the opportunity to ask questions to ensure they are completely aware of the areas needing improvement and how to achieve this improvement.

5. An extension of the PIP shall be documented and approved by the Chief Deputy and Sheriff.

6. If an employee is participating in an employee generated PIP and transfers to another division, the plan shall terminate upon transfer. The employee may initiate another PIP in the new division if he or she so desires.

7. The employee may terminate the PIP via a written memo to the supervisor or commander whenever the employee deems it appropriate.

C. Disposition of PIP's:

1. Upon completion of a PIP, the commander or supervisor shall issue the employee a PM, which shall state if the employee met or did not meet the standards outlined in the PIP.

2. The PIP, the PM's, and all other related attachments shall be retained in the employee's evaluation file for two (2) years.

3. No PIP over two years old shall be used to reference an employee's performance.
